BELROSE

Inspired by nature, stunning interiors ensure a beautiful homecoming. Each fully climate-controlled residence is carefully created to capture views, the flow of air and a profusion of light from full-height glazing, many featuring elegant skylights.

Spacious living and dining spaces transition seamlessly to large balconies, set against a canvas of warm neutral tones and a natural material palette. They are functional, flexible, generous spaces designed to flow with the rhythms of daily life.

Each space is thoughtfully crafted and curated to create a luxurious village retreat.

Find peace and tranquillity in the luxuriously appointed bedrooms, many with private balconies that draw the outdoors in along with the cooling night air. The beautifully understated natural palette of elegant greys, sandy beiges and fresh whites creates a restful backdrop and timeless feel for your home. Each bedroom is finished in 100 percent wool carpet for essential everyday comfort.

Contemporary kitchens are designed around easy entertaining and modern family life. They create a focal point at the heart of your home, beautifully finished with reconstituted stone benchtops and splashbacks, pendant lights over the counters, a suite of integrated Miele appliances and classic herringbone Oak flooring. Many residences also feature study nooks for work-from-home days or study when you need it and all include security video intercoms for peace of mind.

Appliance upgrades for Chef's or Entertainer Packages are available on request.

Bathrooms reveal attention to all-important finishing touches. They are serene and stylish havens in which to relax. Porcelain tiles reflect the colours of nature, honed reconstituted stone benchtops are set with elegant ceramic basins while soft-close vanity drawers and expansive LED-lit mirrored cabinets offer space for all your bathing essentials.

Two understated light and dark schemes create a luxurious natural backdrop pairing textural timber and stone hues with brushed chrome accents so you can easily add your own personal style.

In traditional Italian homes, family milestones and gatherings take place at the kitchen or the dining table. The village atmosphere suits our vision for modern, unpretentious Italian dining, and the beautiful indoor-outdoor eat street is the perfect setting.

Nick Salerno
FOUNDER

Stella Blu

UNPRETENTIOUS AND DELICIOUS

With restaurants in Dee Why and now Belrose, Stella Blu is something of a culinary institution in the Northern Beaches.

Cousins Nick and Pino Salerno have created a welcoming local Italian eatery amongst Glenrose Village's stylish row of alfresco eateries, one that captures the hospitality of the Italian homes they grew up in. "The community feel here really suits us, with the mix of locals, families and the popularity of the neighbouring Glen Street Theatre."

The magnetism of this iconic stretch of coast always pulls you in. A short drive away, Dee Why and the chain of beautiful beaches are a haven for sunbathers, surfers and nature lovers seeking out its celebrated coastal pleasures.

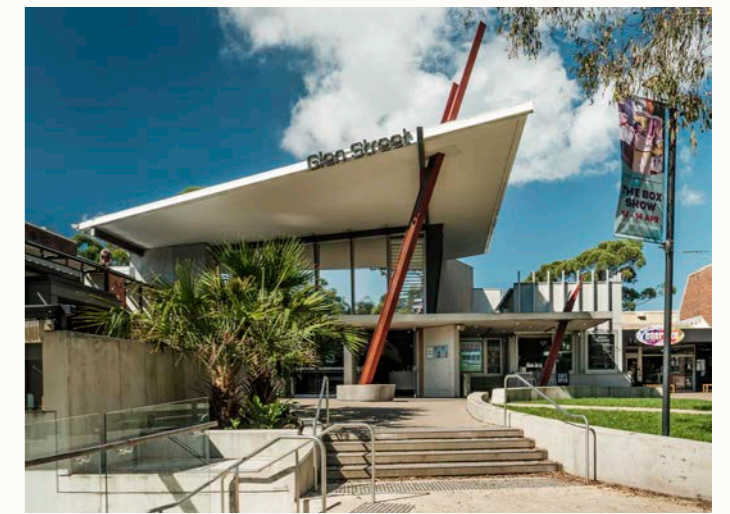

Just across the road, a thriving new cultural and health hub sits on your doorstep. This centre for the arts, performance and creativity is shaping a real, vital community that will only grow better with time.

Recent redevelopment of the Glen Street Theatre, the Northern Beaches' most enduring and loved performance space, has created an active cultural space that is unique in Sydney. It includes a new state-of-the-art library, café and winebar showcasing performances, plays and literary lunches, and plenty of entertainment for children.

By day and night, it's a place to enjoy theatrical and musical productions or outdoor events in a beautifully landscaped bush setting, or simply sit in the café, use the free Wi-Fi or read magazines from the library. Since redevelopment, buzzing Glenn Street Theatre is pulling crowds beyond Belrose, many drawn to the fashionable pre and post-theatre dining in neighbouring Glenrose Village's Eat Street.

Within the cultural hub precinct, there's also space to exercise your body as well as your mind. The community-focused Energize Health Club and Belrose squash courts provide an inspired, relaxed and inclusive atmosphere for all ages and abilities.

Belrose is a place where growth, infrastructure investment and abundant natural assets deliver a first-rate quality of life that is increasingly sought-after by professionals, young couples, families and retirees.

Part of the wider Frenchs Forest area, the suburb of Belrose delivers a world of opportunity on your doorstep, with much more soon to come. In recent years the NSW government has injected $1B in investment into the area, naming it a Priority Precinct in 2017.

Major transformation includes the new Northern Beaches Hospital and the infrastructure and road networks that surround it. There’s also a new town centre planned next to the hospital, which will create a vibrant community focal point.

With more upgrades to come, including a new high school and upgrades to the Forestway Shopping Centre in the pipeline, this area is hugely popular with a wide demographic.

The designated strategic centre, based around the new hospital and improved transport links, will provide immense local growth and guarantee further employment opportunities. It is forecast to deliver 2,000 new homes and 2,000 new jobs, mainly in health and education to support the Northern Beaches Hospital.

The architecture is modern yet timeless, finished with complementary natural tones and textures that generate a reassuring warmth and settle the building comfortably into its landscape.

Award winning DKO Architects have given the building a sculptural form that is simple yet sophisticated. It reflects the character of its leafy Northern Beaches village surrounds creating a beautiful balance between the active retail piazza and your very private residential world.

Brick piers shape a traditional colonnade space and an interplay between light and shade across the facades.

The elegant external colour palette blends a fresh modern aesthetic with the calming notes of nature. It sits easily within the surrounding landscape of mature trees, greenery-lined pedestrian pathways and green pocket park that borders the site. In The Belrose Collection, home is where the heart is. It shapes a truly welcoming community, a peaceful setting for relaxation, and a place to connect with your village neighbours.

The Belrose Collection is brought to life by an experienced and passionate team, dedicated to creating uniquely considered residential properties.
